Indiana is giving the Democrats a good deal of trouble.

The severest blow the Democrats can receive is to have the truth hurled at them.

The Democrats of Stevens Point have unanimously gone into a Hancock club. There are six of them.

The Democrats expect to carry Indiana by importing troops. They are satisfied they can do it by an honest vote.

The greatest struggle the Democratic party has, is with its own record. Of course it don't care about the record only so far as it influences votes.

All the Democratic party has to offer to the public, are promises. Inasmuch as the Democratic party never fulfilled a promise, they are much below par.

The Southern Democrats glory in the fact that they can pay their debts by repudiation. That is what they will do with the public debt if they have a chance.

Even the promise of General Hancock that he will not allow his party to rob the public treasury, can not save him. The Democratic disposition to steal is stronger than one man.

General Hancock: "I am the shepherd, and the Democratic party the wolves." Bob Ingersoll proposes to clean out the wolves and there will be no use for the shepherd.

When a Democrat is nominated for office about the first thing he does is to pledge himself that he won't be dishonest. It seems to be necessary to do this to stand any show of an election.

A straw: "There are 9,000 saloons in New York city. As there are 90,000 Democratic voters in that city, this gives an average of just eleven Democrats to one grog shop, including the Democrat behind the bar."

Gold is coming to this country at the rate of five million dollars a week, for goods imported, and yet we hear Democrats say the country is going to ruin under Republican rule. The country wants just such ruin as this, and all it can get.

General Hancock promises the country that the Democratic party shall control him. He knows the record of the party is bad, the leaders hungry for office and are unscrupulous, and makes this promise to keep the old Democratic hulk from sinking.

Gabe Bonck, who is called the "vacancy" of the Sixth district, is having his Congressional record gotten up in a very interesting shape by the Appleton Post. The Democrats have made some very poor Congressmen, but they never made a more useless one than Bonck.

They are a new system of school books in the South. They exactly meet the Democratic idea of Lincoln and the war. These new school readers denounce Lincoln as a usurper and the war an oppression. This is the kind of learning the Democrats want to spread among the people.

If it be true that "Boss" Shepherd shouts for Hancock, what will the Democrats say about it? For the last eight years they have covered him with mud; now let us see how beautifully they will whitewash him. In the language of the New York Tribune, this is a roaring boom for a "change."

The difference between the two: Hancock says he will protect the treasury, if elected, from being robbed by his party. General Garfield represents a party which itself is the guardian of the treasury. The question is, which is it safer to trust, one man, or the combined strength of an honest party?

One old man in Illinois, rode eighty miles in a wagon to hear Colonel Ingersoll speak at Rockford. When Ingersoll heard of him, he requested him to be brought on the stand and occupy a chief place among the prominent men who attended the meeting. That man's political faith is sufficient to remove mountains.

Sixteen Democrat United States Senators, and fifty-four Democratic members of the House of Representatives, have introduced bills to promote the payment of rebel claims. There are tens of millions of dollars of these claims already on file. All they want is a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President, and their claims will draw the money.

Will some well-informed Democrat rise up and tell the public of a single instance in which the Democratic party has ever redeemed a pledge or promise—JAMES H. GILMORE.

Now sit down and listen: Four years ago the Democrats elected a president so fairly and overwhelmingly, that they did not believe eight Republicans could be found mean enough and traitorous enough to dispute it; so they "promised" to submit it to such a court, and "pledged" themselves to abide by the result. They kept that "promise," and redeemed that "pledge" as the whole world knows, although to do so they had to submit to the most infamous outrage ever put upon a political party in this or any other country. Next—Madison Democrat.

What is the matter with the memory of the editor of the Democrat? Some Democrats did promise to abide by the decision of the electoral commission, but when the commission found Mr. Hayes legally elected, they denounced the eight Republicans in the tribunal, as "friends" and "kicked" against the decision. But they were compelled to submit after the fashion of submitting to the overpowering Union forces in 1865. They were compelled to yield, as they could not do otherwise. But is this the only instance which can come to the mind of the Democrat in which the Democratic party redeemed a pledge or fulfilled a promise? One would suppose that a Democrat keeping in mind the "great record" of the Democratic party, and having faith in its aims and purposes, could certainly find a single instance in which it could claim the confidence of the people.

AN IMPORTANT ISSUE.

Aside from the disgrace and humiliation of having the Solid South to control this government, there is another question of supreme importance in this canvass. The triumph of the principles of Lee and Jackson, which the South is contending for, would not of itself, effect the pockets of the merchant, the manufacturer, and the working man. It would simply be an outrage on the patriotism of this country and a burning insult to the dead in national cemeteries and on the hundreds of battle fields of the war.

But there is another question which comes directly home to every man who has to toil for the bread he eats and the clothes he wears. It is a question which very forcibly effects the products of a man's labor, the condition of his home, and his entire business prospects in the future. That question is in regard to protecting the industries of this country by a tariff, which will build up the manufacturing interests of the United States, and result directly to the benefit of the American laborer. This is a grand system of encouragement to our own manufacturing, to pay our own mechanics good wages, to create a home market for all the products of the soil we can, to bring the manufacturer and farmer nearer together, and to make their interests one and the same thing. This has been the policy of the Republican party for years, and it has been the salvation of this country.

Just see what we are doing in the way of manufacturing, and how many hundreds and thousands of mechanics and operatives are employed to do the work. No country in the world ever made such gigantic strides in manufacturing as the United States since the Republican party came into power. The increase has been astonishing, and has amazed all Europe. Articles, which under Democratic administrations, we were compelled to buy in foreign countries, are now made here, and just as good as can be made anywhere. This gives our mechanics employment and keeps our money at home instead of driving it off to Europe to support the workmen there.

But what would be the result if the Democrats should get control of all branches of the government? This is a question which demands the sober thought of every voter. It is a question which strikes squarely at the most sensitive part of man—his pocket. Let us see what has been the record of the Democratic party on this great question, and to be honest about it and to divest the discussion of all buncombe, we will give the official record, and charge the Democrats with no more than they should be charged with.

When that party got control of the House of Representatives, they made an attempt to break down the present tariff. This was in 1876. The Morrison bill was a severe blow at American manufacturers and American labor. It was nothing less than an attempt to tax the poor man's breakfast table, and to reduce the tax on iron and silks. This bill was defeated by the courage and strength of the Republicans in Congress. Two years after this, Mr. Wood, of New York, made a tariff bill, which, from the very moment it made its appearance in Congress, began to unsettle values and lessen the confidence in our industries. It made capital timid, and was the cause of closing many mills, and furnaces, when the Democrat wanted to consider this iniquitous bill, the motion was put and 153 Democrats voted for it and 104 Republicans voted against it. But the Republicans continued the fight against the bill, and a few weeks later the bill was killed by a vote of 134 to 120. Of the 134 votes, 115 were Republicans, and of the 120 votes for the bill, 113 were Democrats.

This shows that the Democrats in Congress are for free trade, and throwing aside all protection to the manufacturing industries of the country. Beside this, the Democratic National platform, promises free trade. This should arouse every business man and every mechanic, and every laboring man in the United States. It should unite them against the Democratic party. It should unite them against the Democratic scheme to drive a death blow at the forges, the furnaces, the mills, the shops, and the factories that give workingmen employment. When the busy wheels stop turning, and the furnace fires go out, the mechanic and the workingman cease to labor, and they go hungry and wear rags, to pay for Democratic free trade.

A FATAL QUARREL.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 1.—S. F. Wilson, Republican candidate for Governor, spoke here yesterday afternoon. After the speaking last night a fight occurred over politics between George R. C. Wilson and one Thompson. The former was killed.

INDIANA.

The Approaching end of the Campaign in the Hoosierdom.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—It is very evident that the campaign in this State is drawing to a close. The blow and bluster which characterized the earlier weeks of the month have given way to quiet secret arrangements for the day of the election. There is little talk now about trades and fusion, while the long list of appointments for speakers is growing gradually shorter. In place of speculation people demand figures, and instead of talking to make more converts the managers are now engaged in the work of preventing fraud.

The nearness of election day seems to add to the confidence of both parties. Secretary Rice, of the Democratic State Central Committee, furnished figures this evening, which give the State to the Democracy by a plurality of 11,000. Two or three hours before the Tribune's representative had listened to the Hon. John C. New, who claimed the State by 10,000 plurality for the Republicans, if frauds were prevented in the larger Democratic counties like Allen, Franklin, Dearborn and Shelby. He said he believed such counties were better organized this year to check fraud, than ever before, and, so far as he had been informed, United States Supervisors would be appointed to assist in procuring an honest count. That Democrats also have faith in Supervisors is evidenced by the fact that the afternoon Senator McDonald introduced Chief Supervisor Rockwood that application will be made for Supervisors in the counties of Marion, Delaware, Fayette, Elkhart, Grant, Henry, Hendricks, Howard, and Wayne. The Nationals will also submit lists to the Supervisors for appointment in those precincts, which they are entitled to Supervisors. Application was received to-day from Putnam and Sullivan counties. From this it is evident that all parties distrust each other, and it is not unlikely that it will result in incurring a very quiet and fair election. This is the desire and hope of Republicans.

OHIO.

General Grosvenor Confident of a Republican Victory.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1.—I had a short interview this evening with General Charles Grosvenor, of Athens, than whom no man in the State is better qualified to speak of the prospects of Republican success. Mr. Grosvenor was actively in the campaign last fall, and has been for many years past.

What do you think of the prospect?

"From careful observations, and conversations with those who should know, in many different parts of the State, I see no reason to form any other opinion than that we are going to carry the State by about the same majority that Foster got for Governor last fall."

"That was 17,000 was it not?"

"Exactly; and we shall not fall short of that, I think, unless Cincinnati shall turn out in some way to disappoint us all. The political machine in that great city is so complex that it is very difficult to tell just how it may work. A very small thing will sometimes change a large number of votes, and that thing may happen on the very eve of election."

"Do you think anything of the kind you mentioned will be likely to happen?"

"I do not, and I do not fear the general result if it does. Nothing, in my judgment, can prevent the Republicans carrying Ohio this year by a handsome majority. The changing of votes which sometimes happens in Cincinnati cannot be large enough to overthrow our majority in the State."

AN APPEAL FOR MONEY.

The Washington Post Puts Forth Another Appeal for Money.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 1.—The Washington Post, this morning, has another frantic appeal to Democrats for money contributions to secure the election of Hancock, and demands that every Democratic voter shall contribute one day's wages, urging that he money contributed be sent to William H. Barnum, New York, politically known as the "mule" buyer. The Post says, referring to the issue in Indiana, that the party that comes down the homestretch at the most exciting pace, and in the grandest show of strength, is the party that will win.

DESERTS THE DEMOCRACY.

A Prominent Iowa Irishman Joins the Republican Phalanx.

DES MOINES, Oct. 1.—John Brennan, of Sioux City, the leading Irish Democratic orator in Iowa, if not the leading orator of any nationality in the party in this State, has written a letter declaring his intention to vote for Garfield and Arthur and the Republican Congressional ticket. Mr. Brennan was last summer, at the National Convention of United Irishmen held at Philadelphia, elected President of the Association. In his letter he says: "In my humble opinion there is only one question in this canvass in which Irishmen as Irishmen are interested. I refer to the conflict between the American policy of protection to home industry and the English policy of free trade. England's policy of free trade has literally assisted in destroying the industries and the consequent prosperity of my native island; and England's policy and England's agents and agencies are at work in this country to-day seeking to ruin the great industries of America and the American laboring classes. As an American citizen, and as an Irishman, I am in favor of a strong, healthy tariff and stalwart tariff legislators, and as such I am opposed to the election of Democratic congressmen. In the language of Dean Swift, I would burn everything that comes from England but her coal, and if my voice and my feelings could reach the 1,000,000 voters of my race in the United States, there would not be a free-trade agent in the Congress of the United States."

CONGRESSIONAL GAINS.

The Republican Managers Confident of Gaining Some Congressmen in the South.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Some of the Republican managers are confident that their party will gain a sufficient number of congressmen in the South to secure the control of the next House of Representatives even if there are no gains in the Northern States. The confidence is based upon a very thorough and quiet canvass which has been made of Virginia, North Carolina, Florida, and Maryland. The theory is that there may be three Republican congressmen from Virginia, two from North Carolina, two from Tennessee, one from Louisiana, one from Florida, one possibly from Georgia, and one in Texas. It is to be feared that this confident expectation of a few will not be realized.

FEMALE SUFFRAGE.

The Female Suffragists in Utah in Trouble.

SALT LAKE, Oct. 1.—The woman suffrage law of Utah makes the voting qualifications of women different from those of men. Believing this renders it invalid a writ of mandamus was sued out in the supreme court of Utah, requiring the registration officers to strike all women's names off the voting lists or show cause why they should not. After the hearing, the supreme court decided that a mandamus will not be substituted to compel the registration officers to strike off any names placed by them on the lists, because it is not a ministerial act. The effort to have the validity of the law tested in the court will not be abandoned.

RENOUNCING DEMOCRACY.

TOLEDO, Oct. 1.—Two other important defections of especial interest and encouragement to Republicans of Northwestern Ohio are announced to-day. Herman Baumbach, an influential German, and until yesterday chairman of the National county committee, has resigned, and come out for Judge Ritchie. The other case is that of Col. Arnold McMahon, who was a gallant soldier, and commander of the Twenty-first Ohio at two of its most brilliant battles in the Southwest. He says openly to-day that he cannot go Hurd, who was a pronounced Copperhead during the war. The extent of this movement among less prominent voters is calculated to be immense.

A BILL RAISED.

MADISON, Oct. 1.—W. S. Main, Deputy United States Marshal, arrived here from LaCrosse to-day, bringing with him Crawford McGregor, a colored man, who has been convicted before the United States court for attempting to pass a $1 bill that had been raised to $10. Portions of bills found in his possession show that he is a frequent practitioner in the business, and a pardon found among his effects gives evidence that he has been in jail. He received a sentence of five years, and will accompany Lamb, the maker of spurious coin, to Joliet prison to-morrow.

She Meant Business.

They have some queer girls in Colorado. One of them who resides in Cheyenne Poudre Valley, had been receiving the attentions of a young man for about a year, but, becoming impatient at his failure to bring matters to a crisis, she resolved to ascertain his intentions. When he next called she took him gently by the ear, and, holding him by the back of the head, she said, "Moby, you've been foolin' round this claim fur mity near year, or there never yit shot off your mouth on the mavin' biz. I've cottoned to yer on the square clean through, an' hev stood off every other galoot that has tried to chip in; an' now I want yer to come down to business or leave the ranche. Ef yer want to marry an' want a pard the'll stick nite to ye till ye pass in yer checks an' the good Lord calls ye over the range, jist squeal an' he'll hitch; but of that ain't yer game, draw out an' give some other feller a show fur his pile. Now sing yer song or skip."

He sang.

MY WANTS.

By JAMES R. GILMORE.

I want not wealth—the yellow gold
That chills the soul like Arctic cold,
That turns to ice the warmest heart,
And withers all its better part;
I want not power to rule the world,
To rule the brow of wretched slaves,
To bring glad smiles to eyes that weep,
And all my loved ones sadly keep;
This wealth I want, and nothing more.

I want not power to sway my kind,
And blindly lead a world of blind,
To shift the scene on life's great stage,
And make my impress on the age;
I want not power;
But rather strength to lift the soul,
Bound down in passion's base control;
To aid in its upward flight
To you, high realm of love and light—
This power I want, and nothing more.

I want not fame—to have my name
Recorded by a garish flame
That, like the sun on life's great stage,
A moment gleams, then dies away;
I want not fame;
I only want it may be said,
When I am gathered to the dead;
He lived unknown, and died content;
His life should be his monument.
Such fame I want, and nothing more.

But this I want—a friend that's true,
Who will my virtues kindly view,
And all my faults as kindly scan,
Nor count me more or less than man;
And even more;
I want a hand, my own to hold
When days are dark, and cold,
An arm my faltering feet to stay
While here I tread life's weary way,
Such friend I want, and even more.

I want true love—true woman's love
As pure as that which rules above,
As deep as the unsounded sea,
As true as the immovable;
And even more;
I want a smile to light my home,
A kiss to greet me when I come,
A heart whose sweet and holy chime
I kiss to greet me when I come,
Such love I want, and even more.

I want a calm, secluded place
In the kind thoughts of all my race;
I want that men should speak of me
In gentle tones of charity;
And even more;
I want to feel deep in my heart,
I want to feel well my heart part;
I want to feel deep in my heart,
I want to feel well my heart part;
Such love I want, and nothing more.

Sosodent and Bismarck.

Looking at Bismarck one would not suppose that he sways such almost omnipotence. He is calm and cheerful, wary and watching. SOSO-DENT don't look different from other preparations. But it never fails in what it undertakes. Calm and agreeable, it is death to parasites which attack the teeth.

Why is Bismarck like SPALDING'S GUM? He sticks and holds on forever.

Coughs.

"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate COUGHS, SORE THROAT, HOARSENESS and BRONCHIAL AFFECTIONS. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly all entire generations, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

The Troche—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the throat and larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH or Sore Throat requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes.

—Fritz V. Arco, who has been in Morse's restaurant, is opening up a candy store and oyster room on East Milwaukee street, in Clark's former fruit stand.

—During the week ending Sept. 30, there were issued at the money order department 150 orders amounting to $1,838.99, and 120 paid amounting to $2,034.58, making the total cash handled $3,873.57. A big week.

—In accordance with custom, on and after to-morrow the churches will commence their evening services at 7 o'clock, a half-hour earlier than in the summer months. Worshipers should bear in mind that the Sunday evening services begin at 7 o'clock.

—The much persecuted and virtuous Kate Lynch was dizzy again yesterday, and folks really thought she was drunk.

She was invited to appear in the Police Court and was from there taken to the jail to be cared for for ten days, where she will feel at home.

—Last evening there was a rousing Republican rally in the town of Turtle.

William Thom, president, and Senator Richardson and A. H. Baxter, Esq., of this city, addressed the meeting. Both speakers were cordially received, eagerly listened to, and called forth much enthusiasm.

—Yesterday E. T. Foote received an additional stock of hats and caps, and new goods in other lines are arriving, so that his store this fall is crowded to the full with a big variety of nobby goods.

He says he has struck some good bargains, and promises to give his customers the benefit of them.

—The press dispatches scattered broadcast the statement that the venerable Archbishop Hennri was lying at the point of death in Milwaukee. We are informed by an eye witness who was in Milwaukee yesterday afternoon that he saw the Archbishop taking his daily promenade, and that he was looking better than at any time for a year past.

—There was a very enjoyable gathering of the Young Friends of Miss Franc Whiting, last evening, at the residence of her father, Dr. J. B. Whiting. There were about forty or fifty in the party. Good music was provided for dancing, refreshments were served at an early hour, and all the arrangements were most happily executed, and the friends most hospitably entertained.

—Miss Lallie Foster, the fashionable dressmaker, has just returned from Chicago, where she has been attending the grand openings of the leading dress-making establishments and fashion emporiums; and now is prepared to give the ladies of Janesville the benefit of her knowledge, skill, and taste in this line. Those who want the latest and the best in style and make should call upon her.

—Prof. Silsbee has arranged to use for his English academy, the rooms in Mitchell's block formerly used for Prof. Jackson's academy, and he will use for commercial school the rooms formerly used as a commercial college, on Main street over the GAZETTE office. This arrangement goes into effect Monday next, and will continue until the rooms are ready in the new Myers' block on East Milwaukee street, which the Professor expects to occupy permanently.

Best Accommodations for least money, Astor House, New York.

THE WEATHER

REPORTED BY PENNIE & EYSSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 5 o'clock last night stood at 68 degrees above; at 1 o'clock A. M. to-day at 52 degrees above; at 7 o'clock A. M. at 49 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock P. M. at 76 degrees above. Partly cloudy.

The indications to-day are, for the upper lake region, slightly warmer southerly to westerly winds, partly cloudy weather and slight change in barometer.

PERSONAL

—J. B. Doe started East to-day for a three weeks' trip.

—Attorney Pethers returned this afternoon from Jefferson.

—Judge Conger returned from Jefferson to-day, and opens Court at Monroe Monday.

—Will D. Jerome, of the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, was in the city to-day.

—Dr. E. L. Cary, now of Whitewater, was in the city to-day, shaking hands with his many old friends here.

—Henry Quinn has promoted himself, and is now in the employ of Carson, Pirie & Co., at their west side store, in Chicago.

—We received a pleasant call this morning from Charles Ross, Esq., cashier of the firm of Mardon, Luse & Co. type foundry of Chicago.

—Dr. Bowers, the new Clinton editor, was a caller at the GAZETTE office to-day in company with Rev. Mr. Leavitt, the pastor of the Methodist church there.

—Oscar Field, the well known Chicago liverman, was in the city to-day. Among the purchases made by him here was a speedy and showy horse belonging to Dr. Judd.

—Father Munich is expected to arrive very soon from Europe. It is reported that he is to be given a new parish, and a more extensive field of labor soon, and that he will probably not resume his pastorate of St. Mary's church here. Father Munich has many friends here outside as well as inside the church, who would regret to have him leave the city.

AGREED TO DISAGREE.

Such is the Result in the Mack Murder Trial.

The Jury Discharged.

The jury in the trial of Mrs. Mack for the murder of her husband, after having been closely closed for fifty-one hours, without agreeing on a verdict, were discharged by Judge Conger at last past 12 o'clock to-day, they expressing it as their firm conviction that there was no possibility of their coming to an agreement. The result will not surprise those who have watched the case, as the length of time which the jury has been out, bespoke the probability of such a result.

It is stated that there were fifty-nine ballots taken in all. At the first part of the balloting there were six for acquittal and six for conviction. After a time there were nine for acquittal and three for conviction. Then another change took place which showed six for acquittal, three for finding guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree, and three for conviction for murder, and this was the condition of the voting from that time on, with no apparent possibility for further change.

The present bail will continue so that Mrs. Mack will still have fresh air to breathe.

Oh let me from the festive board, to thee my mother flee

And be my secret sorrow shared, by thee, and only thee,

No blame, no blame, my mother dear, do I impute to you;

But since I ate that currant tart, I don't know what to do.

"Best take Spring Blossom."

McKEY'S NEW STORE.

This morning McKAY & Bro. threw open the doors of their new store, and let the public swarm in and examine and buy at will the new goods with which they have packed shelves and counters.

The public has been on the tip-toe of expectation for some time, and when the opportunity was presented to-day, there was a rush which kept up hour after hour, and seemingly increasing, all being anxious to see, and many being eager to get the first fruits of the enterprise.

The store deserves all the gazing, all the words of wonderment and praise, which it received from those who visited it to-day. Its size, appointments, and furnishings are such as would attract attention if located in the central part of a metropolis, and it is manifestly more attractive when located in a city of this size. It has a frontage of over forty feet, and a depth of one hundred and twenty-seven feet. Down the center of the store, and along the sides are counters and shelves filled with goods, and at the rear is an elevated floor, which is to be devoted to the shawl and cloak department. The basement floor is reached by broad and easy steps, and there is found a carpet room of the same mammoth size as the main floor above. This carpet room is no cellar, but a bright cheery room, with ceilings of good height, and with cleanly attractive furnishings. The store in every part is made as light as day, and its size and arrangement are such as to render it easy to keep in excellent shape every department necessary to a first-class dry-goods store.

The stock which has been placed in this large and beautiful store is as rich and as varied as is to be found in any store in the northwest. There are novelties on every hand and a dazzling array of costly, elegant goods. In the millinery department, which is under the direction of Mrs. Ausden, are to be found goods which rank with the choicest to be found in any of the large cities, and in variety there is a perfect bewildering of attractions. The goods are well arranged through all departments, and the establishment is certainly not only a credit to the enterprise of McKAY & Bro., but to the city of Janesville itself, which may well feel proud of such a firm, such a store, and such a stock.

CALAMUS BOUND HOME.

B. B. Eldredge's fast flyer, CALAMUS, is expected home from St. Louis, Monday next. She has made a good showing this season, and has the promise of even better things. Dunton's Spirit of the Turf gives the following minute description of her:

Calamus is 15½ hands high, a glossy, beautiful red bay, a white ankle and a white heel behind. A star in forehead the size of the eye, a good sized strip on the nose connecting the star with the thread of white fully fifteen inches long. The head is a model that Rosa Bonheur might pattern from, beautiful and clean cut, with sparkling eyes and ears. She is an inch higher behind than at the withers. Bred by Mr. Walter, of good lineage, June 29, 1872; 1st dam, Sorrel Fanny, by Richard's Bellfounder son of Blucher, 2d dam by White Stocking by Richard's Bellfounder, 3d dam by Rockingham. She was purchased by her present owner, B. B. Eldredge, Esq., of Janesville, Wis., when a two-year old, with her full sister, Janette, a year younger. Mr. Eldredge broke them himself, for a pastime, and when Calamus was six Mr. C. Nelson began to educate her for the turf, and her recent performances show how well she succeeded with her. The mare now weighs 940 lbs., strides 19 feet, wears 11½ oz. shoes forward with a 4 oz. toe-weight, and six oz. behind. Her present record, made at Minneapolis, 2:24½.

Ben. Rust, Horseheads, Channing Co., N. Y., writes: "I have been a victim to Dyspepsia, in the worst shape it could attack an Englishman. I would sit down to enjoy a meal, of something I like, after taking a few mouthfuls, I would be overcome with a fullness of the stomach and have to stop. I constantly had the Heartburn and Headache, also a Dizziness. My mother procured me a bottle of Spring Blossom, it cured me. I can eat a square meal and enjoy it, I never felt better in my life."
